

Below are time slots available for the oral exam. The black cells are NOT available.

You are encouraged to form groups of two persons for the exam. Then the exam takes two hours. If occasionally you cannot find anyone to take the exam with, the exam will take just above one hour.

The number of time slots are chosen based on that you take the exam in groups and this number is then sufficient both if all of you would like to have it before the start of the spring semester or if all of you would like to have it after the Thesis Proposal Seminar in the Master's thesis course.

You apply for a time slot by sending an e-mail to anders.nordgaard@liu.se in which you tell who you are (both names with e-mail addresses) and at least 3 requested time slots in preference order (first come, first served).

To avoid the room booked being locked up for too long you must make your application at latest on 19 December 2024.

After that the room bookings for time slots not chosen will be released, and you'll have to "manually" ask for a slot, which may be later in spring.
